At Corporate Challenge Events, we believe impact and connection go hand in hand. It's why every experience we design brings people together around something that matters whether that's building trust inside your team or creating real change beyond it.

This Charity Showcase is more than a directory. It's a starting point. A way for your team to explore how giving back can be both meaningful and memorable.

The organisations featured here are more than partners; they're purpose powerhouses doing vital work across the country. And they need support not just during peak seasons, but all year round.

Whether it's through a hands-on activation, in-kind support, or a play-based team building, there's a way for every team to get involved.

So take a look. Get inspired. And imagine what could happen if your next team day delivered more than just connection, it delivered impact too.

"In New Zealand, New research shows one in five young New Zealanders have experienced material hardship by their pre-teen years. The realities of material hardship: young people living in homes facing material hardship experienced severe limitations on everyday essentials."

1 Million People Playing by 2030.

We recognise the power of collaboration and teamwork, both within our organisation and with our clients. That's why we offer engaging and impactful charity team building events that not only strengthen bonds among team members but also contribute to meaningful causes.

Through these events, we bring together socially responsible clients and our trusted charity partners, fostering connections that result in substantial donations.

How to Become a Charity Partner?

We proudly partner with charities of all sizes, fostering relationships that drive meaningful change.

If you represent a charity we invite you to reach out to us. Together, we can explore potential partnerships and how we may support you through our charity team building events.

"Over the years, our efforts have led to the contribution of $3.1 million dollars of in-kind donations."

The idea of doing something for charity was very well received by all and I now think it will remain a permanent fixture for us at future conference events.

HOW TO READ THIS GUIDE.

Step 01

Start by learning about the various charitable organisations and initiatives detailed in the guide. Each page offers valuable insights into the work these organisations do and how they serve the community.

Step 02

Once you have a grasp of the organisations and their missions, delve deeper into the different ways your team can support them. This could be through events, in-kind donations, fundraising efforts, or other forms of support.

Step 03

Finally, it's time to take action. Choose the initiatives that resonate most with your team and start planning your contributions. Remember, every little bit helps in making a significant impact on these charities and the communities they serve.

BLUE LIGHT

About Blue Light

Blue Light is a not-for-profit charity that works in partnership with the Police to create positive connections between young people and the Police, helping young people find direction, fun and a sense of belonging within their communities, enabling young people to develop life skills, leadership skills, and find education or employment opportunities.

How you can support

Keep kids adventuring.

It's time for our kids to get outdoors and into action again but we need your help.

Blue Light runs outdoor adventure programmes in partnership with the New Zealand Defence Force for young people to create lifelong experiences and lifelong mates.

With your help, we can get kids outdoors and into adventures that bring out their best.

GRANDPARENTS RAISING GRANDCHILDREN

About

Grandparents Raising Grandchildren

Grandparents Raising Grandchildren is a national charity supporting grandparents and whānau caregivers who are raising tamariki (children) and rangatahi (youth) full-time, often due to traumatic circumstances. We provide financial and legal advocacy, support groups, caregiver education, emergency resources, and connection to help families navigate complex systems and provide safe, stable, and loving homes across Aotearoa.

How you can support

GRG offers businesses the opportunity to align with the only organisation in New Zealand supporting grandparents and caregivers, and the children and young people in their full time care. Enhance your corporate mana and brand equity by partnering with our amazing organisation to achieve measurable impact, and drive new business.

HEART KIDS NZ

About

Heart Kids NZ

For 40 years, Heart Kids New Zealand has been providing crucial, lifelong support, information, connection and hope so that heart kids and their whānau never face their heart journey alone.

About Ida (pictured above):

Ida has Shone's Complex - multiple defects to the left side of her heart. She has undergone numerous open-heart surgeries and will need treatment for the rest of her life. Heart Kids NZ will provide support for Ida and her family, every step of the way.

How you can support

Our partners are valued members of the Heart Kids NZ family. Whether it's through financial support, free services offered or helping to raise awareness, our partners are making a real difference for the hundreds of children and whānau impacted by a childhood heart condition every year in Aotearoa NZ.

Your support helps ensure we can keep offering our free, vital support services to heart families, so they never face their heart journey alone.

KIDNEY KIDS NZ

About Kidney Kids NZ

Kidney Kids is a not-for-profit organisation that supports children, their families and whānau with kidney disease.

We provide families with resources, information, family support events, camps, christmas parties, personal development, hospital visits, home visits and other assistance. Through this, we support parents' needs and support our kidney kids to live the best lives possible.

How you can support

We are proud to work with an amazing group of companies that share our vision for improving the lives of Kidney Kids and their families. With their support we can brighten the lives of all those young people affected by kidney disease.

There are many ways to get involved – becoming an event sponsor, donating financially, gifting products or services that reduce our operating costs, raising awareness of what we do through your networks and even creating experiences for our families to enjoy.

KURA CARES

About Kura Cares

Kura Cares is a South Auckland-based charity empowering Māori and Pasifika communities through free programmes focused on financial literacy, youth mentorship, health, and work readiness. We support whānau to break cycles of poverty by building confidence, capability, and real-world skills for long-term success.

How you can support

We are looking for ongoing partnerships to fund our life changing programmes. If you or your business are interested, lets talk. We continuously strive to provide basic essential resources to help raise the living standards of our Māori and Pacific Whānau in poverty and help bridge the gap between each income demographic.

KIWIHARVEST

About KiwiHarvest

Food rescue is a clever solution to address two big issues, food insecurity and food waste.

Feeding those in need with rescued food is the lowest cost way to address this need. Support for KiwiHarvest is support for the 225 charitable organisations that we provide food to.

How you can support

We welcome anyone who would like to join us on our mission, to tackle food waste, and promote food security throughout Aotearoa.

It can be difficult to know where to start, but taking even the smallest of actions can make a positive difference. If you're looking for ideas for how you could get involved with KiwiHarvest, or help tackle food waste and promote food security in your daily life, click the link below.

KIWI HARVEST

About RASNZ

RASNZ has been providing mental health and well-being services to people from refugee backgrounds in Aotearoa for 30 years. Clinical services are underpinned by holistic, community support initiatives relying wholly on philanthropic funding. RASNZ gives refugees the support they need that is right for them, to give them control over their own lives, and thrive.

How you can support

Donate to our Engagement and Wellbeing Activities programme that we run for each intake of new arrivals at the Mangere Refugee Resettlement Centre. It delivers opportunities for new refugee arrivals to strengthen wellbeing by de-stressing – and having fun. Building resilience, making connections, and enjoying a brief respite from past trauma in these initial weeks in Mangere greatly assists refugee background people to improve wellbeing.

STAND TŪ MAIA

About

Stand Tu Maia

We work to transform the lives of children and young people who are at significant risk of harm to their well-being as a consequence of the environment in which they are being raised and their own complex needs. For each child we seek to develop their capacity to live in healthy, hopeful relationships with others.

How you can support

You can help Stand Tū Māia through donations of your time, goods needed for our tamariki, experiences that you or an organisation you're part of can provide and most of all, money to help fund our programmes.

If you're an experienced social worker or wanting to help make a difference in children's lives, then consider a career with Stand and work from one of our nation-wide locations.

THE STARSHIP FOUNDATION

About The Starship Foundation

The Starship Foundation is the dedicated charity behind Starship, our national children's hospital. Its mission is to support the front line of New Zealand paediatric healthcare, ensuring sick and injured children have access to the very best treatments, life-saving equipment, critical care services, breakthrough research and family support initiatives.

How you can support

At the Starship Foundation, we are dedicated to building strong, mutually beneficial partnerships with corporate organisations that wish to be recognised as champions for children's healthcare in New Zealand.

Partnering with Starship allows your business the opportunity to maximise your corporate social responsibility and community goals while demonstrating your commitment to bringing better health and brighter futures to all Kiwi children.

Our Purpose is to inspire others on the power of play for team success.

For the past 30 years, we've been on an incredible journey, witnessing firsthand how the power of play drives team success. Over 700,000 people have experienced the benefits of play through our team building programs.

This isn't just something we're passionate about, it's something we truly believe in. Play is at the heart of team success.

Our commitment to this belief led us to create a framework to expand the play movement. It was born from our desire to bring our mission, promises, and values together into something real and actionable. It's not just a set of ideals, it's our commitment to inspiring play for team success.

And we knew it couldn't stop with the workplace.

That's why we brought play into our charity programs. Every LEGO kit, bike, toy or flatpack built becomes more than just a donation, it becomes a moment of shared effort, joy and meaning. Play shifts participants into a state where they connect more deeply with the cause, and the result is felt on both sides. Teams feel proud of what they've created, and communities receive not just goods, but gifts of play, connection and dignity.

We call it the The Play Philosophy

A strategic framework with a clear and meaningful goal of

1 Million People Playing by 2030.

CHARITY TEAM BUILDING.

OUR CHARITY TEAM BUILDING PROGRAMMES
NURTURE TEAMS AND NOURISH COMMUNITIES.

Want to give back and build real connection at the same time? Our charity team building programmes are designed to do both; strengthen your team culture and support the causes that matter. We create shared experiences that spark contribution, collaboration and purpose. Because when teams give back together, it's more than a great day out; it's a moment that moves people, builds momentum and leaves a lasting impact.
